

DESIGN-BUILD FOR THE FUTURE

EVENING MIXER

Thursday, August 18, 2011

WHAT'S THE BIG DEAL ABOUT DESIGN-BUILD?

A newly released study revealed some interesting facts about the design-build delivery method:

- More than 40% of non-residential construction projects in 2010 were design-build, up 10% since 2005.
- Design-build delivery holds a commanding 80% share of the military sector.
- Design-build is also widely used in medical and commercial sectors, more than 38% share in each category.

The statistics give a clear indication – as owners see the value in the integrated approach of design-build, more and more projects will be delivered this way. Jacob Williams, President of the DBIA Western Pacific Region, will present a brief summary of design-build and DBIA. He'll discuss how owners can implement the process and what design-builders can do to win projects. This will be a great opportunity to network with experienced design-build practitioners in our community. Heavy pupu and a no-host bar will be available.

GUEST SPEAKER

Jacob Williams, is the Assistant Director for the Los Angeles County Dept. of Public Works. He is responsible for the management and delivery of the Los Angeles County Capital Projects Program, currently valued in excess of $3 billion. Jacob has led the County in a shift from traditional low-bid delivery to integrated methods such as design-build on a diverse array of project types.

During his 25-year career with the County, Jacob has served in a variety of senior executive positions, with experience in architecture, project management, and planning.

He attended the University of California at Berkeley where he received a Bachelor of Architecture degree. He is currently a licensed Architect.

Jacob is also the President of the DBIA Western Pacific Region, covering California, Nevada, Arizona, and Hawaii.
