DAVID BRUSH

Director, Terminal Development Program, Owners Representative - San Diego Airport
Mr. Brush's career spans over forty years, including work in the United States, Europe, Russia, Central/South America, Mexico, the Bahamas and Caribbean. During the first ten years of his career he worked for a general contractor focused primarily on large commercial, industrial and highway projects. For the past 30 years he has worked as an owner's representative leading large airport capital improvement programs for both air carriers and airports.

Mr. Brush has managed multi-year, multi-billion dollar airport programs in Boston, Dallas-Fort Worth, Denver, Miami and San Jose and is currently leading the Terminal Development Program in San Diego. During his career he has gained extensive experience forming and leading teams of professionals charged with the planning, design, permitting, financing, construction, commissioning and close-out of large aviation programs across the country.

Over the past three decades he has built winning teams that were successful in achieving program schedule and budget goals. He is a champion of partnering as an effective means of dispute avoidance and has utilized its tenets to promote strong and respectful owner, designer and contractor relationships.

Mr. Brush is experienced in both traditional design-bid-build and design-build project delivery strategies. He is a strong advocate of design-build as a means of compressing schedule, controlling change orders, strengthening working relationships, reducing the likelihood of claims and greatly increasing the likelihood of a success program outcome.
