

DBIA MEMBERSHIP APPLICATION

MEMBERSHIP CATEGORIES

DBIA offers two types of memberships: (1) Industry Partner (IP) membership is an “organizational” membership, noting your company name as the member with various contacts; and (2) Individual membership applies to a single person – only that individual receives access to DBIA member benefits, not others in the company. Select the category below in which you would like to join DBIA.

Why consider IP membership instead of Individual membership?

- Highlights your firm as a design-build leader and demonstrates your commitment to Design-Build Done Right
- All employees in your firm receive discounts on all educational programs and products
- Authorization to use DBIA member logo on all company marketing materials
- Includes your firm name, description and key contacts on the DBIA website and in our online membership directory

DBIA membership must be renewed annually. Dues payments are non-refundable. Dues are tax deductible as ordinary and necessary business expenses under IRS Tax Code Section 162(3) except for that portion allocable to “lobbying” under Public Law #103-66. (DBIA estimates that 97% of your dues payment is deductible and 3% non-deductible.)

DBIA MEMBERSHIP APPLICATION FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

WHAT IS AN INDUSTRY PARTNER (IP)?

An organizational membership category which provides member benefits to an organization and its employees. There are five Industry Partner member categories: AE/EA Firm, At-Risk Firm, Professional Firm, Public/Private Owner Firm and Specialty Contractor/Manufacturer/Supplier. Membership dues vary based on the type of organization and the annual sales volume (refer to chart on reverse).

WHAT IS A PUBLIC/PRIVATE OWNER?

Owners decide what gets built, when it gets built and how it gets built. They are the organizations (or individuals who work for those organizations) that control the design and construction processes. This does NOT include firms and/or people that provide design and construction services such as contractors, A/E firms, architects, etc.

Examples include:

- Real Estate Developer
- Private Facility Owner
- Academic Institution
- Government Agency (Federal, Local/City, State, Military)
- Non-Profit Association

WHAT IS AN AT-RISK FIRM?

At-Risk Firms are defined as the firm that would typically hold the single point of responsibility contract for the project. Firms generally falling in this category are Design-Build Firms, General Contracting Firms and Construction Management Firms.

WHAT IS A YOUNG PROFESSIONAL?

Individual(s) aged 35 or younger qualify as Young Professionals. Two (2) of the Industry Partner free contacts are designated to Young Professionals. These slots may not be transferred to others outside of the Young Professionals category.

DO I HAVE TO JOIN A REGION SEPARATELY?

DBIA is a dual membership organization, meaning that Region membership is included with your national dues at no additional cost. DBIA's 14 Regions actively work to support their specific markets which have an impact on local design and the construction community. Regions also offer educational programs, networking events, legislative efforts and owner education and outreach. Your Region is determined by your physical address. DBIA Regions and the areas they cover can be found at www.dbia.org/about/Regions-Chapters.

ARE MY DBIA DUES TAX DEDUCTIBLE?

Dues are tax deductible as ordinary and necessary business expenses under IRS Tax Code Section 162(3) except for that portion allocable to "lobbying" under Public Law #103-66. DBIA estimates that 97% of your dues payment is deductible and 3% non-deductible.

WHEN DOES MY MEMBERSHIP EXPIRE?

Your DBIA membership is effective 12 months from your membership approval date. For example if you joined in January 2015, then your renewal date will be January 31, 2016. Thereafter it will be the same month of the following year and so on.

WHAT IS A FREE CONTACT?

Industry Partner members receive a certain number of contacts with their membership. Free contacts receive all member benefits. A $100 discount is applied for any additional DBIA Industry Partner members – either paid by the individual or by the company.

WE ARE JOINING AS AN INDUSTRY PARTNER. HOW DO I NOTIFY DBIA OF THE NAMES AND CONTACT INFORMATION FOR OUR FREE CONTACTS?

Once you receive your welcome materials, feel free to email membership@dbia.org with the name, title, address and contact information, for each free contact you would like to add.

WHAT IF I JOIN AS AN INDUSTRY PARTNER (IP) AND I WANT MORE CONTACTS ASSOCIATED WITH MY COMPANY?

You may add additional contacts for $249 per year/per contact.

HOW LONG DOES IT TAKE FOR MY MEMBERSHIP TO BE PROCESSED AND ACTIVE? WHAT HAPPENS ONCE MY APPLICATION IS PROCESSED?

It takes approximately one business day for your application to be processed and active. You will receive an emailed confirmation as well as a hard copy letter in the mail within one week of activation. Both include your login information for the DBIA website as well as your region and any other pertinent information.
